

Serix iam

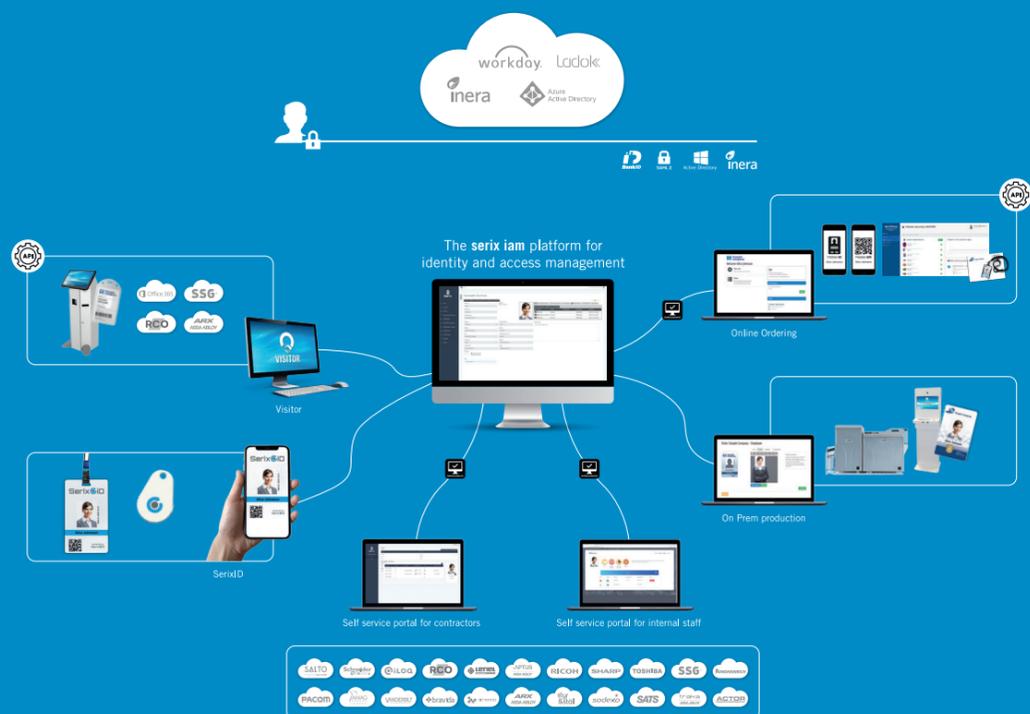

Identity and access management

ONE INTERFACE FOR ALL IDENTITY- AND ACCESSMANAGEMENT

Serix IAM is a powerful platform that enables more efficient management of a person's identity in several connected systems, through just one interface. The management is linked to the person's digital identity, access rights and belongings throughout the entire lifecycle within an organization. Serix IAM integrates with reliable data sources such as HR systems or AD and thereby merges information from these systems with access systems and printing solutions. This ensures that all information Serix IAM holds about an individual, is always current and accurate. This interconnection makes it possible to manage and monitor identities and access rights in an automated and structured way throughout the whole lifecycle.

By using Serix IAM as the overall system, all types of organizations can benefit from more efficient use of resources through simpler user management and automated processes, and thereby obtaining better decision-making support and higher security. This results in structured and cost-effective identity and access management, whilst disambarrass time and resources to be able to focus on your core business.
